

I am opposed to weakening Indiana's telephone privacy law.
Every one has rights. However, the rights of an individual in the privacy of their own home, should be considered before the rights of anyone who would invade that privacy for commercial profit.